June 2009

Dear Parents,

This year we have been trialling a new style report system. You will see that there is no information in the report on 'how to improve', however, I would like to assure you that this report is supported by an extensive programme of constructive feedback from your daughter's subject teachers, on all areas of her work, and in particular on her recent annual examinations. The manner in which subjects have given feedback to your daughter will vary from subject to subject but she should be able to show you the advice that she has been given, clearly identifies her strengths and the areas to focus on for improvement.

Yours sincerely

GH Bulloch

Assistant Head
