Dear All,

Upper School Production of 'Antigone'

This year's upper school production is 'Antigone' by Sophocles. The play is over 2000 years old but is still relevant to modern audiences. Set in the war torn city of Thebes, Antigone tries to bury the body of her traitorous brother with dire consequences. Greed, power and inescapable fate feature heavily in our interpretation.

The girls have had barely six weeks of rehearsal. In this time they have built and painted the set and original costume has also been designed and fabricated. The production runs on Monday 22nd November, with the final performances on Friday 26th and Saturday 27th November. All performances start at 7.00pm.

Tickets are on sale immediately, at £7.00 for adults and £3.50 for staff and concessions. Tickets are limited so please get your orders quickly to Miss Wheatley in the PA office via the red post box. Unfortunately, because of a strict limit on audience numbers, tickets must be paid for in advance and will not be sold on the door.

I hope see you there supporting our talented students.

Yours faithfully,

Mr Dawes
Head of Drama

'Antigone'
